

ACTIVITIES FOR GRADES K-5

-  Have your child write a letter or draw a picture to mail to a family member or friend describing why they like being their friend.
-  Invite your child to draw their favorite thing to do with friends and write a sentence describing the picture.
-  Help your child connect with a friend that they have not seen in a while. Exchange letters, play games online or throw joint celebrations virtually using video chat software.
-  Have your child brainstorm a list of strategies for making new friends. Invite them to ask family members for tips and tricks to add to the list.
-  Ask your child to find an object at home that reminds them of a memory that they have with a friend. Ask them to write about the moment of friendship that it represents.
-  Ask your child to write a friendship story. It could be a time when they became friends with someone new, a time when they resolved a conflict with a friend or a time they stood up for a friend who was being bullied.

We'd love to see your creations. Please share your stories, artwork, and photos with us on social media
